WILL TEST RESERVOIR

At noon Monday, a trial will be made of the water in the big reservoir on the hill, and from present indications, it should be completely filled by Tuesday evening. This will enable a test to be made of the reservoir, as the water will be left standing for a period of twenty-four hours.

The same difficulty of the laboring system working unsatisfactorily hindered the operation of the centrifugal pump Monday morning, but the high force pump was working admirably. It is hoped to have the system adjusted properly before the day is over.

THE MARKETS

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 5.—Wheat advanced today, influenced by a rise in prices at Liverpool. Disturbing reports as to the neutral city of Turkey and Italy and in regard to a crop shortage in Australia had a further bullish effect. The Australian drought was said to have become extremely serious. After opening a quarter to 1/2 higher the market here made a slight additional gain.

Corn showed some firmness with wheat and as a result of unsettled weather. Demand, however, was slow, and the upturn was not well held. The opening which was 1/4 to 1/2 higher was followed by a moderate reaction.

Profit taking on the part of the buyers tended to restrain buying of oats. At first, though, not much was for sale, and there was something of a bulge in consequence.

Disappointing figures on the exports of hard made provisions sag. The total hard exports for the week were only about half those of a week ago.

KORN KARNIVAL NOTES

Samuel Randall Ross, who is Portsmouth's oldest citizen, has become involved with the Korn Carnival and has offered his services to Capt. James W. Smith, grand marshal.

Mr. Ross' letter follows: 310 Court Street, Portsmouth, N. H., October 5, 1914.

Capt. J. W. Smith,

Dear Mr. Smith,

Grand Marshal of the Korn Carnival:

It occurs to me to say that it will add to the enthusiasm, success and interest of the Korn Carnival and of the Parade of the "Boosters" and any others to have "The Old Man" in Portsmouth in the parade who may call on me for attendance and service and place me where you think best. I may not be able to join the walking column but perhaps some automobile may have a vacant seat at this disposal.

Hoping for good weather for the week and a successful affair, I subscribe myself,

Respectfully yours,

Samuel Randall Ross, 1819 is 95 years, 1914.

Capt. Smith has written a letter to Mr. Ross thanking him for his kind offer and assuring him that it will be taken up at once. He has referred the matter to Warwick Anderson, chairman of the boosters' committee who will provide a suitable conveyance for him.

It is also suggested that Giles Gilbert be given a place of honor in the parade. He is a few years younger than Mr. Ross, but is Portsmouth's oldest resident, having come to Portsmouth quite a number of years before Mr. Ross settled here.

These suggestions by Grand Marshal Smith are added in the Fraternal Order of Eagles' parade program for Thursday evening and will be included in the program for Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the rooms of the Retail Merchants' Association in the Masade Temple.

Grand Marshal Smith and the members of the parade committee will be present, and instructions will be issued to the aides.

All persons expecting to participate in the boosters' parade may secure passes free of charge at the F. M. Patterson company booth on Second street.

Dear Miss Wise.—I have a daughter who is 19 years old, but my husband will not let her have young men callers. How can I persuade him to let her have callers, as I do not object myself.

WORRIED MOTHER.
Has your husband any real objection to the character of the young men? If not, show him that it is better for your daughter to entertain her friends at home, where you can see that all things are right, than it is for her to meet them at the homes of her friends, or possibly even on the streets.

Dear Miss Wise.—Please give me a recipe for chicken sandwiches and oblige.

WORRIED HOUSEWIFE.
The easiest way to make a chicken sandwich is to cook and season the chicken and then strip the meat from the bones and put it between slices of bread, or buns. There is no use worrying over a little thing like a chicken sandwich, my dear Housewife.

PRETTY POLLY.
You are both acting in a very silly manner over this young man. I cannot see that either of you have any claim on him, and until you are engaged, I should advise you not to claim any one. You are at the boy's crazy age, and I should not be inclined to let you off with an easy lecture, but do not forget that you are not the one to pursue. Let the man run after you, if there is to be any running done. You are both too young to think of marriage and it would be a good thing if you would not think as much of the boys as you do for awhile.

Dear Dolly.—I am a married woman but me and my husband do not get along very well and I want you to give me some advice. We were both married before and I have two daughters and he is very cross with them and I won't stand for anything like that. What shall I do?

A READER.
Can you not have a good talk with him and ask him if the past cannot be forgotten and a new leaf turned over. Tell him that you will do your share, but that he will have to help. Make it clear that the present situation is getting on your nerves and that life would run much more smoothly if there was not that constant friction in the house.

Dear Miss Wise.—Can you tell me of any one that measures little children for short growth? Please tell me if you do.

NEW BOSTON LADY.
I should think any physician could measure the children for you.

Dear Dolly. Will you print a remedy for calloused hands?

WORKER.
A lotion of equal parts, camphor and glycerine is good. Put on at night and sleep in old kid gloves. Working in rubber gloves helps to keep the hands in good condition.

Dear Dolly. I would like to have a recipe for cooking corn and tomatoes. I mean together.

MRS. D. T. J.
Canned Corn and Tomatoes. Boil two dozen ears of ripe corn until the kernels are tender. Remove from fire and while still hot, cut the corn from the cob with a sharp knife. Peel two dozen ripe tomatoes and chop into small bits. Mix the corn and tomatoes, together salt to taste, and put over the fire in a porcelain lined kettle. Bring to a hard boil, cook for a minute and pour at once into quart jars. Seal immediately.

Dear Miss Wise. Will you kindly tell me how to remove midday from clothes that have lain a long time?

MRS. E. M.

Dissolve a heaping tablespoonful of chloride of lime in a gallon of boiling water. When the solution is cool, place the mildewed goods in it and let it stay until the mildew disappears. If it is very obstinate in coming out lay it on the grass in the sun. Let it dry and try it again. This is good for white clothes only.

Dear Miss Wise.—I'm coming to you who have helped so many to ask for a little advice. I am only 18 years of age but have been through enough trouble for a woman of 21. I have loved a fellow of 22 for over three years. I went with him for two years and he was as true as anybody could be. I would not even speak to any other man because he was my all. He quit me and I was sick for a long time over it. I have no desire to go with any other man all the time. When I meet him on the street, which is not very often, I don't act as if I cared if he spoke to me. We quit about six months' time and for all.

ago. He always told me he loved me but if he does, don't you think he would have tried to make up before this. I have heard people say that I was very pretty. I am not vain, but why can't he see my beauty too? I could get lots of fellows, but I don't want them. I am of a very distant and reserved nature. Don't tell me I had better learn to spell and write, because I never got to go to school very much. I was born in the month of May. Aren't people usually melancholy who were born in that month?

Girls should not give their time exclusively to young men unless they are engaged. I think perhaps the reason he quit you was because you were so crazy about him. STAGE IS NOW BEING SET FOR KORN KARNIVAL

Streets Are Riot Of Color; Stores Being Decorated

With the Korn Karnival but a few days off the city has taken on a holiday attire and with favorable weather there is no question but that the Karnival will be the greatest affair of the kind ever held in this city and in point of interest and attendance it will surpass the Korn Karnival of 1913. Roads are rapidly going up in the business centers and by Tuesday morning they will be ready for their decorative material. Everybody is hustling and the roads will be all ready for public inspection when the Karnival formally opened Wednesday morning.

Everywhere the symphony of cannon and saw was heard Monday and the old town is awash in excitement over the Karnival. It is sure to be a rollicking affair in the River City and everybody is praying for favorable weather.

The official program calls for a great list of entertainment that will please the thousands of visitors the Karnival will attract to the city. The different companies have worked unceasingly to make the Karnival a success. From the activity already displayed they feel that their funds will be more than equal to the task.

It seems that everybody has caught himself into a committee of one to host the Karnival. The year the problem was to get the visitor to the city. This year the great problem is to care for the visitors who are sure to be here to take in the Karnival and its continuous round of festivities," said President Charles Daehler of the Retail Merchants Association, Monday.

The city is decorated as it never has been decorated before. Its business streets are literally bathed in colors. The merchants have decorated their stores as well as booths and they hope to do considerable extra business through the week. They have offered tempting bargains to the visitors, which they feel sure will be snapped up.

The Karnival opens Wednesday with the Boosters Parade. All are invited to get in this parade.

On Thursday morning the County Farmers Parade will be held. The Baby Buggy Parade takes place Thursday afternoon and the Fraternal Parade is a glittering event scheduled for Thursday night.

On Friday night the parade of Johnnies will be pulled off. Unique in design it is sure to be a tremendous success.

On Saturday afternoon the Old Father's contest will take place and the Karnival closes on Saturday night with a masked carnival. Leontine, Ashland, Huntington, Greenup, Chillicothe, Waverly, Peebles, West Union, Winchester and many other adjoining towns will send large delegations to the city this week because of the Karnival. The town will be abuzz with enthusiasm. The eyes of the Buckeye State will be focused on this week. In an amusement way there will be nothing of wholesome fun for all.

Taylor & Son Demand A Freight Refund

Columbus, O., Oct. 5.—Complaints against the Norfolk and Western and Pennsylvania railroads have been filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission by Lafayette Taylor and Son Company, of this city. It is set up in the complaint that during the months of May and June the company shipped 11 carloads of goods across the Ohio River from West Virginia to Youngstown, Pa., and that the railroads charged a rate of 11 cents a hundred pounds, making the total freight charges $671. Land Exists North Of Canada Is Belief Of Coast Surveyor

San Francisco, Oct. 5.—Charting of the North Alaskan coast has been completed by Ernest De Haven Loffingwell, of Pasadena, California, after a year alone in the northern wastes, it was learned here today.

Loffingwell arrived late yesterday on the Whaler Jennette. He journeyed north on the Mary Sachs, one of the vessels of Stefansson's, the Arctic explorer, and returned with the word that two ships of the Canadian expedition which were frozen in last winter near Flaxman Island, 35 miles from Loffingwell's headquarters, made their way to sea in July and are now on their way to Dominion waters.

Speaking of a visit from Stefansson, Loffingwell said today: "Early in December I was surprised on answering a knock at my door to see Stefansson stride into my cabin. I had supposed him to be hundreds of miles distant."

"He and several of his party were encamped at Collinson Point. Later they sent a dog team to my camp and took me to their headquarters for Christmas. We exchanged several visits after that."

"When the ice broke up about the Kaduk, Stefansson's ship, her seams were found open and she was abandoned, the explorer and his party encamping on one of the other vessels."

Loffingwell says that he believes that land to the north of Canada for which the Stefansson party is searching exists and soon will be found.

Leading Lawyers of Ohio on the Home Rule Amendment

MEN OF OHIO:

In the last two weeks the state has been flooded with printed matter in which the language of the Home Rule Amendment has been misquoted and distorted.

Do you believe the 304,062 voters of Ohio who signed the petition for the Home Rule Amendment acted in bad faith?

Do you believe that these voters from 87 counties would submit for your adoption a Constitutional Amendment which would strike down any regulatory liquor law?

Has some Prohibitionist attempted to persuade your better judgment against the plain meaning of the language of the Home Rule amendment?

Do you realize the efforts of the Prohibitionists to befuddle the public mind on the Home Rule Amendment is their method of diverting your attention from the consequences of State-Wide Prohibition?

Have You Read The Home Rule Amendment? It Is As Clear As The Light Of Day.

HERE IT IS

Article XV., Section 9a. No law shall be passed or be in effect prohibiting the sale, furnishing or giving away of intoxicating liquors operative in a subdivision of the state upon the option of the electors thereof, or upon any other contingency, which has force within a territory larger than a municipal corporation or a township outside of municipal corporations therein. All laws in contravention of the foregoing are hereby repealed. Nor shall any law hereafter be passed prohibiting the sale, furnishing or giving away of intoxicating liquors throughout the state at large.

READ IT FOR YOURSELF

Is it not apparent to you that the Amendment establishes the township and municipality as the local option units and prevents State-Wide Prohibition except by vote of the people ---AND NOTHING MORE?

Read what the Attorney General of Ohio says in His Official Opinion August 8, 1914:

"It is my opinion that the adoption of the proposed constitutional amendment would not interfere with or repeal either the Sunday law, sales to minors law, the sales to drunkards or similar regulatory laws, nor prevent the passage of similar laws in the future."

"Furthermore, it is my opinion that local option for municipal corporations and residence districts, as well as local option for townships, applicable to each township in the state, whether it contains a municipal corporation or not, is not interfered with by the amendment. In fact the only so-called local option law affected is the Rose County Option Law."

The Following Are Quotations From The Opinions Of These Lawyers Expressed In Positive Terms:

JUDSON HARMON

The Home Rule Amendment should pass, and present laws against selling to minors, drunkards, etc., on Sunday, cloth in days, etc., and near factories, institutions, etc., would not be repealed or modified in any way, but would remain in full force. Nor would the power of the legislature to enact laws or restrict to make further prohibitions be taken away. I find no ground whatever for the suggestion that the voters of a township who have not continued a vote of abstinence would lose the right to prevent the sale of liquor in the township. Beyond forbidding prohibition of the sale of liquor by a state-wide law, the amendment would make no change in our present system of local option by vote of the electors. The language of the amendment is too plain to need outside help to aid its meaning. But if such help were needed it would be found in the common knowledge of the people of Ohio. The amendment would not repeal any law, but would give the people of every township and municipality the power to regulate the sale of liquor within their own boundaries. The will of the people of every township and municipality has been expressed by the voters of those subdivisions in the past.

GEORGE B. OKEY

WILLIAM L. DAY

The amendment Home Rule makes the township a local option unit. It does not prevent local option elections in townships which contain no municipal corporation. It would not prevent the sale, furnishing or giving away of intoxicating liquors, but only refer to such laws as are known as "prohibitory laws," that is, laws which prohibit the general use of liquor in a community. There is a distinction between "prohibitory" and "regulatory" laws, which is pointed out by the provisions of section 9a, Article XV, of the Constitution of the State of Ohio. In this section the words "prohibitory laws" and "regulatory laws" are both used to describe the laws of different character. There is no foundation for the claim that the amendment, if adopted, will repeal such laws "prohibitory" or prevent the passage of future laws regulating the sale of liquor and providing for punishments and penalties for the violation of such laws.

JOHN A. McMAHON

I am of the opinion that the effect of this amendment Home Rule, if adopted, will be as follows: 1. To prevent the legislature from passing, in the future, a state-wide prohibitory law. 2. To prevent the legislature from passing, in the future, a law which would repeal or modify the Rose County Local Option Law, which grants prohibition to a municipal corporation by the vote of the electors of the county outside of it. It will not affect the laws relating to sales of liquor on Sunday, nor the laws relating to sales to minors, to drunkards, or persons in the habit of being intoxicated. Nor will it in any way change the law as to local option by vote of the electors of a township or municipality. A reading of the law shows that it concerns territorial subdivisions, state and county laws. And we must be apprehensive beyond measure that if any county or township were to construe the amendment in any way that it would affect the laws of the state, it would be a gross misinterpretation of the true meaning of the amendment. It is a thoroughly sound opinion of all my colleagues. It is a thoroughly sound opinion.

WADE H. ELLIS

I have read the proposed amendment to the Constitution of Ohio without any doubt in my mind. It is a very plain and simple amendment. It gives the people of every township and municipality the power to regulate the sale of liquor within their own boundaries. The will of the people of every township and municipality has been expressed by the voters of those subdivisions in the past.

JAMES E. CAMPBELL
